

Acting Chief Executive Officer appointed

5 April 2022

The Construction Industry Training Board has appointed Holly Willcox as its Acting Chief Executive Officer.

The interim appointment of Ms Willcox, the CITB's director of workforce skills and training, as Acting CEO was made during a meeting of the Board this morning.

Ms Willcox's appointment follows yesterday's departure of Andrew Fullgrabe.

The current Board, which had worked with Mr Fullgrabe since January 2021, is grateful for his efforts as CEO during a demanding period as the world grappled with the ongoing impacts of COVID-19.

The Board wishes Mr Fullgrabe all the best and thanks him for his contributions to the industry.

Ms Willcox has more than 20 years of experience working in the vocational education and training sector, including specialising in RTO compliance and leadership.

She joined the CITB in 2018 as quality manager of construction skills training and developed processes for benchmarking and improving program delivery. Ms Willcox has been managing the CITB's training programs and working closely with industry to respond to emerging needs.

The CITB's mission to facilitate excellence in training, career development and advice to the construction industry and its partners remains our sole focus.

"I look forward to guiding the talented and dedicated team at the CITB and offering my support to the Board as we navigate the changes ahead," Ms Willcox said.

"The construction industry has experienced a challenging two years but has continued to grow and is an integral part of South Australia's economic future. I look forward to supporting and sharing our success stories."

The term of the current Board expires in June 2022.

About the CITB: The CITB is a whole-of-industry led organisation that provides support to attract, train and retain South Australian building and construction workers by providing leadership in training and skills development. Learn more here
